54-53 - Residential Retrofits

LAST AMENDED
12/5/2024

Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Chapter, in all districts, for #buildings# where 75 percent or more of the existing floor space is allocated to #residential uses#, an #enlargement#, #extension#, #conversion#, change of #use# or other alteration to such #building# that increases or improves the #residential# floor space within a #building#, may create a new #non-compliance# or increase the degree of a #non-compliance#, provided that increases to existing #non-compliances#, or the creation of new #non-compliances#, with regard to:

(a) maximum #residential# #floor area ratio# shall be limited in size to floor space existing within the volume of a #building# on the #zoning lot#. For #multiple dwelling residences#, such allowance shall be limited to #buildings# existing on December 5, 2024;

(b) required #open space#, #yards#, #rear yard equivalents#, or #courts#, as applicable, shall not diminish the area of the existing open area by more than 20 percent and no further encroachment to a #non-complying# #yard# shall be closer to a #lot line# than an existing #building# on the #zoning lot#; and

(c) the permitted height and setback of a #building#, shall be limited to one #story# or 15 feet, whichever is less, measured relative to the height of the existing #building#.

Allowances for permitted obstructions may be applied to an existing #building#, including as modified pursuant to the provisions of this Section.
